

The Thunder Dragon

The thunder dragon is a rare, disagreeable type of dragon that creates storms across the dark, deep dungeons of the world. Would you know a thunder dragon if you saw one?

Appearance

Thunder dragons have black wings (invisible at night), sharp claws and dangerous jaws. Also, they have a lightning tail which can shoot sparks everywhere! Truthfully, they are as massive as sky-scrapers, as if they are touching space. A thunder dragon's eyes glow brightly when they are misbehaving.

Habitat

Thunder dragons live in underground chambers because they like to hide from people. Some of them like to sleep under gloomy clouds, although it can be very noisy! Others take a nap in stormy hammocks where they swing like cheeky monkeys. Happily, they make nests out of grey rugs, old cloth and soft moss.

Diet

Some thunder dragons enjoy eating dark leaves, wet roots, fresh moss and jet-black brambles. Their favourite food is thunder pie with lightning batter. In addition, thunder dragons drink sky juice which tastes like spark squash.

Extra Information

Lastly, the most incredible thing about thunder dragons is that they can transform into sudden storms. They do this by shrinking their wings and tucking their heads in when it is a full moon. Isn't that unbelievable? Sometimes, an ill-tempered dragon will create a huge storm because it feels misunderstood!
