Newsletter

17th – 28th April 2023

Dear Families, we hope you all had a lovely Easter.

We are delighted to welcome back Charlotte Hesketh-Doyle, as she returns from her maternity leave. Charlotte will be spending this term working in the Friendly Fish room.

This half term, the Friendly Fish children will be learning all about castles and finding out who lives in them. This topic will then lead on to the Coronation of King Charles III. If you have any pictures from books or magazines, of King Charles or other members of the Royal Family, and you are happy to send them into nursery, we will be very grateful.

The Turtles room had a little change round during the break, and the children are settling back in very well. Our topic over the next few weeks is "Growing" and we will also be doing various activities to celebrate the Kings Coronation.

During the next two weeks the Crew children are going to be learning all about life cycles, and will soon have some caterpillars, to study and discover how they develop. We will also be learning about the people who help us and the local police are going to pay a visit to the nursery. We will also receive a video from the dentist, and may possibly have some other exciting visitors too.
